Course Description (edited from the catalog)
Classical antiquity; medieval thought; the School of Salamanca; the development of mercantilist thought and its critics; physiocracy; the French, Italian, and Scottish Enlightenments; Adam Smith and his critics; Malthus, Say, Ricardo, and the development of classical political economy and its critics; socialism, including Ricardian socialists and Karl Marx, and their critics; the English and German historical schools; the marginalist revolution; the development of neoclassical economics, including the Austrian and Swedish schools; Thorstein Veblen and institutionalism; Schumpeter, Sraffa and neo-Ricardianism; and monetary theory from David Hume and the quantity theory of money to Keynes and the Keynesian revolution.

Course of Study
Although we focus on the major schools of thought and the principal authors and their writings, we also take time to study traditions and writers outside of the mainstream. We look at both theory (e.g., David Ricardo and comparative advantage) and policy (e.g., free trade vs. protection), and although our main focus is on positive economics, there is some treatment of normative questions like justice and equity.

We discuss economic ideas with reference to the intellectual milieu (e.g., the Scottish Enlightenment of which Adam Smith was a principal figure), institutions (e.g., the mercantile system that was the dominant economic system at the time Smith wrote), and the economic and social conditions that characterized the times when these writers lived (e.g., Britain’s key role in the eighteenth-century transatlantic economy). We go back as far as the Ancient Greeks and take the story up to John Maynard Keynes, and we look at how various authors have approached perennial questions in different ways.
Course Goals and Student Learning Objectives (SLO)

The goal is to promote economic understanding (Econ SLO 1). Specifically, students are expected to gain familiarity with analytical methods and model-based argument and the nature of and reasons for different methodological approaches (Econ SLO 1.3).

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. Understand the evolution of economic thought and, specifically, changing perspectives on the role of markets and the state in the economy; and
2. How and why those views have changed over time.

Each course learning outcome is associated with all three components to the grade.

Texts/Readings

Textbook

I require you to buy one book for this course. We use Alessandro Roncaglia, A Brief History of Economic Thought (Cambridge University Press, 2017), which is available for purchase, new or used, or for rent, from the publisher or one of a number of retailers online. It is also available as an e-book.

We work our way through the book, with an emphasis on certain key thinkers and concepts.

Other Readings

I distribute handouts that I expect you to read alongside the textbook.

Course Requirements and Assignments

“Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities.” More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S16-9, Course Syllabi at https://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S16-9.pdf.
Course Requirements and Assignments (cont’d)

There are three components to your grade: three examinations (65%), your ten best quizzes (10%), and a research paper (25%).

The three exams consist very largely, if not entirely, of multiple-choice questions created by your instructor. The two shorter exams on Tuesday, September 26 (worth 20%) and Tuesday, November 7 (also worth 20%) emphasize what we have covered in the previous five weeks. The final exam on Thursday, December 14, 7:15-9:30 AM (worth 25%) is comprehensive but with a major emphasis on the history of economic thought since 1870.

There are at least fifteen objective quizzes worth 10%. Each quiz is worth one point, allowing students to drop or miss at least five quizzes. Quiz scores are calculated pro rata so that 10/10 on a quiz is worth one point, and 5/10 is worth half-a-point. Quizzes are based chiefly on the assigned readings and lectures. The questions emphasize key ideas and writers in the history of economic thought. There are no make-ups for any quizzes.

The research paper on a thinker, concept, or school of thought (6-10 pages, including bibliography and references) is worth 25 points (25% of your total score), of which five points are allocated for the proposal, which includes the sources that you will consult, for my approval by 6 PM on Tuesday, October 10. The paper itself is due by 6 PM on Thursday, November 16. The Writing Center is there to help you. https://www.sjsu.edu/writingcenter/

“A minimum aggregate GPA of 2.0 SJSU Studies (R, S, & V) shall be required of all students as a graduation requirement.” To see full text, review University Policy S11-3 at https://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S11-3.pdf

Classroom Protocol

Class attendance is not mandatory and will not directly affect a student’s grade. However, students who miss several classes, in addition to dropping quizzes, will very likely consign themselves to doing extremely poorly on their examinations. I therefore strongly encourage students to attend fully every class.

Please note that the university is closed for Labor Day (Monday, September 4), Veterans Day (Friday, November 10), and the Thanksgiving Holiday (on Wednesday, November 22 the campus is open but it is a non-instructional day, and on Thursday-Friday, November 23-24, the campus is closed).

Consent for Recording of Class and Public Sharing of Instructor Material

University Policy S12-7, https://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-7.pdf, requires students to obtain instructor’s permission to record the course.

“Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording him/her. You must obtain the instructor’s permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material.”

“Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his/her approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without instructor consent.”

Academic integrity

Your commitment as a student to learning is evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University. The University’s Academic Integrity policy, located at https://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F15-7.pdf, requires you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The Student Conduct and Ethical Development website is available at https://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/

Instances of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person’s ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by the University. For this class, all assignments are to be completed by the individual student unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include your assignment or any material you have submitted, or plan to submit for another class, please note that SJSU’s Academic Policy S07-2 requires approval of instructors.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act

If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need to make special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible, or see me during office hours. Students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the Accessible Education Center (AEC) at https://www.sjsu.edu/aec/prospective/register-with-aec/index.php to establish a record of their disability.
