Residency Information

The laws of California provide that every student in the California State University system must be classified as either a resident or non-resident for tuition purposes. Non-resident students are charged additional tuition fees per unit. First-time graduate students who deem it necessary to appeal the assigned residency status as stated on their formal SJSU admission letter can visit sjsu.edu/admissions/graduate/want-to-apply/domestic-steps-to-admission/california-residency/index.php for instructions about how to appeal this determination.

Continue to Monitor your MySJSU Account

You must meet all deadlines required of you. Failure to do so will result in your admission being withdrawn. You can avoid this by carefully and frequently monitoring your MySJSU student account. We reserve the right to withdraw your admission for non-compliance to the conditions stated in the admission letter any time during the process, even if you have registered for courses, have received financial aid, or are living in campus housing.

Graduate Orientation through Canvas

Once you are enrolled in classes, you will be sent an invitation to join a Canvas (online learning) course with several in-depth modules to help you succeed as a graduate student and serve as your general orientation to graduate school. Check with your programs to see if they have program-specific orientations, which may be mandatory. Although the Canvas course is not mandatory, it is highly recommended that you accept the invitation. The course will be self-paced and will take approximately six hours.

Academic Advising

Refer to the department's website for your intended major to determine requirements for academic advising as requirements differ by department. As you continue on your academic career, it is your responsibility to abide by the deadlines for submission of the candidacy form and the graduation application.

Professional Licensure and Certification

CSU programs for professions that require licensure or certification are intended to prepare students for CA licensure and certification requirements. Admission into programs for professions that require licensure and certification does not guarantee that students will obtain a license or certificate. Licensure and certification requirements are set by agencies that are not controlled by or affiliated with the CSU and licensure and certification requirements can change at any time.

The CSU has not determined whether its programs meet other states' educational or professional requirements for licensure and certification. Students planning to pursue licensure or certification in other states are responsible for determining whether, if they complete a California State University program, they will meet their state's requirements for licensure or certification.
