

Young Adults and Self-Forgiveness

Alejandro Perez

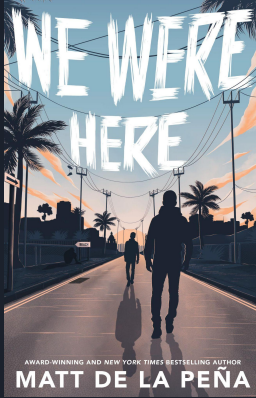

Why This Theme?

5. Write a question, using why.

why?

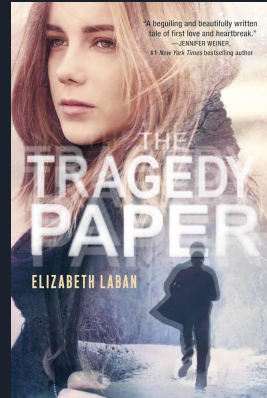

Core and Supplementary Texts

We Were Here

Where She Went

The Tragedy Paper

When You Were Everything

Unit Launch Activity

Reflective Writing SSW Style

- Personal experiences
- What is self forgiveness to you?
- Common challenges? Why is it difficult?
- Why is self forgiveness significant to you?

Reading and Analysis

CHARACTER ANALYSIS

Character Studies:

Analyze protagonists' journeys toward self-forgiveness, focusing on their internal conflicts and resolutions.

Thematic Exploration:

Examine how each narrative portrays the process of forgiving oneself and the factors that facilitate or challenge this journey.

Creative Projects

Monologues:

Students create and perform monologues from the perspective of characters coming to terms with self-forgiveness, deepening their understanding of the emotional landscape.

Artistic Expression:

Create visual art pieces that represent themes of redemption and self-acceptance, allowing for personal interpretation and expression.

1 Award

Roses are red

I like Darth Vader

Poetry's hard

Refrigerator

English teachers:

Concluding Activities

Class Discussions:

Reflection on what we learned. What makes self forgiveness hard?

Personal Narratives:

Write a personal narrative or essay using intro activity and the themes explored throughout the unit connecting to their own experiences.

Final Thoughts

Thanks for listening!

Teacher: That's all for today, thank you for listening

Me who didn't listen:

