

Internships

We are seeking student activists interested in making profound changes in the lives of working people in San Francisco. The Living Wage Coalition is part of a movement fighting for social and economic justice. Interns are needed in the following areas:

Event Planning

- Planning programs and logistics for educating and fundraising events

Outreach

- Visit work sites to inform workers of their rights to wages and benefits under San Francisco's laws and survey workers on their issues.

Press and Public Relations

- Manage relations with media outlets and social media campaigns.

Research / Writing

- Research background information on economic justice issues and assist in writing outreach materials, publications, newsletters, and website content. Translating skills are needed.

Video Production

- Record and edit labor strikes, rallies, demonstrations or press conferences of workers, community or labor leaders.

Web Design and Maintenance

- Research background information on economic justice issues and assist in writing outreach materials, publications, newsletters, and website content. Translating skills are needed.

Perks and Benefits

Flexible hours.

Mentoring and networking opportunities.

Receive possible college credit.

Become part of a growing movement for social and economic justice

San Francisco Living Wage Coalition, 415-863-1225, sflivingwage@riseup.net

Apply here