

ZOOM FEATURES TO POWER UP REMOTE STUDY STRATEGIES

Listed below are a variety of Zoom features that can support collaborative learning activities with your group remotely! Keep in mind that you may need to enable these features on your zoom account prior to meeting.

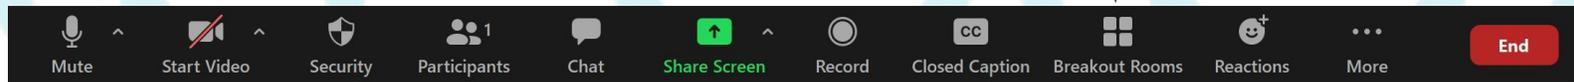

FILE SHARE

Included in the “Chat” function, file share allows you to share lecture slides, notes, etc. for you and your team to all be on the same page and/or work on the same problem. You can also download the file and edit it yourself. Enable file share through Account Settings.

BREAKOUT ROOMS

In larger study groups, it may be useful to work in smaller teams or pairs without the distraction of having everyone talk at once. With breakout rooms, you and the rest of your “mini” team can work together and return to the larger group after a certain amount of time. The host has access to control this feature, so make sure they understand how to enable and assign breakout rooms.

SCREEN SHARE

When working remotely, it may be helpful to share your screen. You can go through a powerpoint, navigate a website, or review practice problems together. Here are some different ways you can share your screen to others.

FULL SCREEN

The very first option is “screen,” which allows you to share your entire screen on your computer to everyone

SINGLE FILE OR WINDOW

You can also select certain files, documents, or windows to share to everyone. Anytime you navigate away from the page, the screen share will pause for everyone.

WHITEBOARD

The Zoom whiteboard is useful for drawing out concepts/ practice problems to others in real time. You can also enable simultaneous screen sharing so group members can share whiteboards at the same time. If you have a tablet or pen, this allows for better control of your drawings.
